

Starting Your Career Coaching

For Students and New Graduates

Real support for landing your first opportunity

Who it's for

Students, new graduates, and anyone new to the job market who wants real support landing their first opportunity.

Why this matters

Landing your first job — or your first job after graduation — is harder than it should be. Nobody teaches you how to write a resume that actually gets noticed, answer interview questions with confidence, or know what to expect. This is that support: practical, hands-on coaching to help you take your education and experience and turn it into your next opportunity.

How it works

1. We talk — a conversation about where you are and what you're going for
2. We build your materials — a resume and cover letter that actually get noticed
3. We prepare you — interview practice with real questions and honest feedback
4. We stay with you — support through up to three interviews, learning and adjusting after each one

What you'll walk away with

- ✓ A resume and cover letter that actually represent you
- ✓ Real interview practice, not just tips
- ✓ Feedback after each interview, so you improve as you go
- ✓ The confidence to go after what you want

Cost: $300 flat fee — covers your resume, cover letter, interview preparation, and support through up to three interviews or three months, whichever comes first. After each interview, we review together, get your feedback, and adjust your approach for the next one — so you're learning and improving with every step of the process.
